THE TRUTH IS
by
Carson Morton

I said I had an extra ticket
If you had nothing else to do
And maybe we could grab some dinner
Only if you wanted to

You said, sure, what do I owe you
I said, forget it, that's okay
I played it cool, but while we made small talk
A voice kept screaming in my brain

The truth is
I'd like to spend some time with you if
By some miracle
You feel the same way, too
And if you do
The truth is I do, too

One day you called me from your cell phone
Your tire was flat, you had no spare
I said don't worry, it's no trouble
And I could use a little air, but:

chorus

A few months later on the best day of my life
The preacher asked me would I take you for my wife

The truth is
I'd like to spend my life with you if
By some miracle
You feel the same way, too
And if you do

The truth is
I'd like to spend my life with you if
By some miracle
You feel the same way, too
And if you do
The truth is I do, too
The truth is I do, too
The truth is I do
